Genesee Valley Conservancy

Our Mission:
To protect the habitat, open space, and farmland of the Genesee Valley region.

Through Genesee Valley Conservancy,
the community has protected 21,360
acres of unique habitats, productive farmland, and scenic open space since 1990.

Genesee Valley Conservancy

The Genesee Valley is a beautiful place to live. With this project, we hope to increase the appreciation of the Genesee Valley in a way that will inspire continued conservation efforts by the community.

Clean air, water, and a vibrant agricultural economy all depend on maintaining open space and the natural resources around us.

As we celebrate 30 years of local conservation, we have accomplished a great deal, but more work needs to be done.

You can support our efforts by purchasing a painting or making a direct gift this year.

I hope you enjoy this fantastic collection of original paintings as much as I have!

About Steed Energy

Glenn Steed installs solar energy systems throughout New York, primarily focusing on residential systems in the Rochester region that can replace 100% of your homes electricity needs.

Case Study: Conservancy Office at 1 Main Street

In 2019, Steed Energy installed a 5.5kW system on Genesee Valley Conservancy's office in the national historic landmark village of Geneseo. This system offsets 100% of our electric usage and avoids 3.9 tons of carbon pollution each year!

Over the next 25 years, we'll avoid nearly 100 tons of carbon pollution as a result of using renewable energy.

Financially, in seven years we'll break even and after 25 years we'll have seen a 70% savings on electricity, meaning less operating costs and more investment into protecting land.

About Us

We are your local land conservancy working to protect important lands in the Genesee Valley that provide clean air and water, diverse habitat, locally grown food, outdoor recreation, and support for the agricultural economy.

Mothersfield - Protected in 2020

This year, we protected Mothersfield in Avon. Landowners Carol and Randy Kozlowski donated a conservation easement on these 66 acres to protect the land for future generations.

Scenic views, productive farmland, equestrian training, and horse boarding services are among the benefits this property provides in the community.

Conservation-minded landowners allow their land to be protected. Annual, monthly, and first-time donors give us the financial resources to work with them to do so.

Replanting Lost Ash Trees: Nations Road

When Geneseo was forced to remove 300 ash trees, dead from emerald ash borer, Genesee Valley Conservancy worked with the local community to replant trees.

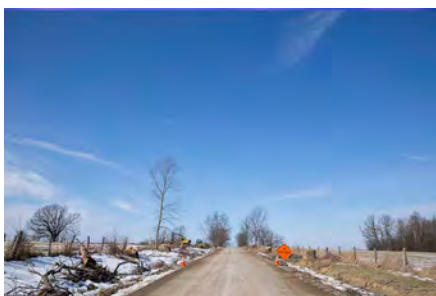

A diverse selection of native trees, favoring those tolerate of droughts and warming temperatures, were planted to ensure trees continue to benefit the area for generations to come.

Before Cutting

A road of scenic beauty, agricultural productivity, and cultural history.

In every Genesee Valley 100 project, artists have been drawn to paint and photograph scenes from this road in part due to the impressive trees.

After Cutting

It may be hard to tell, but this photo was taken in the exact same location and with the same camera as the one above, just a few weeks later.

Look at the forest on the right and the lone oak tree on the left for reference.

Replanting

Over 100 trees have been replanted thanks to 145+ donations to Genesee Valley Conservancy for this project.

With your support, we can continue to have a positive impact on the Genesee Valley's environment and community.
